Collecting and Recording Participation Data

- Ethnic/Racial data is used to determine how effectively your program is reaching potentially eligible children and where outreach may be needed.
- Establish a system to collect ethnic and racial data on an annual basis
- Program applicants may not be required to furnish ethnicity and race
 - You may inform the household, however, that collection of this information is strictly for statistical reporting and has no influence on eligibility determination for the program.
- Data collectors may not second guess, change, or challenge a self-declaration of ethnicity/race made by a participant unless such declarations are blatantly false

Data Collecting and Reporting

Collect ethnic data first, then racial data

- 1. Ethnicity categories:
 - Hispanic or Latino
 - Non-Hispanic or Non-Latino
- 2. Racial categories (instructions should specify "mark one or more")
 - American Indian or Alaskan Native
 - Asian
 - Black or African American
 - Native Hawaiian or other Pacific Islander

Obtain ethnic/racial data through

· Voluntary self-identification or self-reporting (preferred method)

CACFP Enrollment Forms: The ethnic and racial data may be collected within the completed enrollment information submitted to the sponsor upon initial enrollment

- If a household chooses not to provide racial/ethnic information, you may use one of the following two methods:
 - Visual identification by the home provider
 - Personal knowledge, records, or other documentation your agency possesses that identifies the household ethnic/racial data.

Reasonable Accommodation of Persons with Disabilities

Providing Menu Item Substitutions

USDA regulations require providers to reasonably accommodate children whose disabilities restrict their diets by providing substitutions or modifications for their meals based on a licensed physician's assessment.

Example: food allergies causing life-threatening anaphylactic reactions

- Disabilities must be documented by a physician's statement Physician statement must: state the name of the child's disability, identify how it limits one of the major life activities, specify foods the child cannot have and the foods to be substituted.
- Generally, children with food allergies or intolerances do not have a disability. The provider may provide substitutions under these circumstances, but is not required to.

Example: lactose intolerance, sensitivity to food additives

Language Assistance

Limited English Proficiency (LEP)

Definition:

- Individuals who do not speak English as their primary language and have limited ability to read, speak, write, or understand English.
- · Recipients of Federal financial assistance have a responsibility to take reasonable steps to ensure meaningful access to their programs and activities by persons with LEP.

 - · Use interpreter from another area
 - · Train bilingual staff to be interpreters
 - Contact grassroots organizations to discuss translation or assistance from within the community
- Language line phone services may be available for a subscription fee through your local telephone service provider
